The Group's policy is to classify each loan as 'neither past due nor impaired' until objective evidence of impairment of the loan is identified. The primary factors that the Group considers in determining whether a loan is impaired are its overdue status, debt restructuring due to the client's financial difficulties and realisability of related collateral. The Group has no past due but not impaired loans.

Provision is calculated individually for large loans with impairment indicators and for loans that are subject to oversight by the specialised units of the Group and have indicators of impairment.

The Group estimates loan impairment provision, for which no impairment indicators have been identified on an individual basis, based on its past experience with actual losses incurred and after considering the industry of the borrowers.

The Group estimates provision for impairment of the retail loan portfolio by credit product on the basis of historical migration matrix for actual losses incurred over the last 12 months.

The Group usually issues loans in case there is a liquid and sufficient collateral that is documented in accordance with legally established procedures (except for some credit products used for lending to individuals, overdrafts without collateral, loans to RF constituents and municipal organisations, factoring financing, loans assessed on an individual basis and authorised for issue without collateral). Loans to legal entities may be collateralised by the following:

- real estate;
- equipment;
- motor vehicles;
- goods in turnover;
- guarantee deposit;
- banking guarantee;
- state (municipal) guarantee;
- own promissory notes;
- highly liquid securities;
- refined precious metals (gold, silver, platinum and palladium);
- vested interest (for demand) implied from commitments under an agreement.

Loans collateralised by third parties may be issued once the third parties provide their guarantees as collateral. In this case:

- the financial position of a legal entity guarantor should be classified as not worse than average in accordance with the Group's internal methodologies on evaluation of financial position;
- the financial position of an individual guarantor should be classified as good in accordance with the Group's internal methodologies on evaluation of financial position.

Pledged real estate property (except for land), equipment, motor vehicles and inventory items should be insured. The insured amount of the collateral should be not less than its collateral value, the term of the insurance contract should expire not earlier than one month after the loan maturity date.

Loans to individuals may be collateralised by the following:

- real estate purchased under the sale and purchase agreement with use of credit sources, provided by the Group, and burdened with a mortgage by law;
- pledge of rights under the contract on acquisition of residential real estate at a construction stage;
- pledge of a share for the residential real estate purchased under the contract on participation in ZhSK;
- real estate owned by individuals or legal entities, burdened with a mortgage;
- motor vehicles;
- guarantees of third parties, in particular employers of the individual borrower;
- pledge of right of claim on the individual's deposit; and
- other property owned by the borrower.

In addition, to mitigate the credit risk, the Group uses insurance by borrowers of the pledged item, the individual borrower's life and disability or accident and illness insurance, and also insurance of the risks connected with loss of work.

Obligations of the borrowers can be collateralised with various types of collateral simultaneously. The collateral should be sufficient to repay the principal, interest and the amount of the Group's potential expenses associated with the fulfilment of debtor's obligations.

The collateral value of property is determined when a loan is issued in accordance with the Group's effective procedure.

In addition, the Group has a right for write-off from the borrower's settlement and current accounts with the Group in case of non-fulfilment of loan contract obligations by the borrower.

Market value of property is assumed to be the collateral value of security in respect of credit products of retail portfolio. Market value of property is confirmed by the report on real estate market valuation prepared by a valuation company.

Depending on the credit limit, profession and current employer of the borrower, life and disability insurance can be taken as security for bank card loans. The Group can also require additional collateral.

The financial effect of collateral is presented by disclosing impact of collateral and other credit enhancements on impairment provisions recognised at the end of the reporting period. Without holding collateral and other credit enhancements, the impairment provisions would be higher by the following amounts:

19 Segment Analysis

Operating segments are components that engage in business activities that may earn revenues or incur expenses, whose operating results are regularly reviewed by the chief operating decision maker (CODM), and for which discrete financial information is available. The CODM is the person - or group of persons - who allocates resources and assesses the performance for the entity. The functions of chief operating decision maker (CODM) are performed by the Management Board of the Group.

(a) Description of products and services from which each reportable segment derives its revenue

For the purpose of management, the Group's operations are split by types of products and services and by classes of clients acquiring them, into the following operating segments:

- Corporate business representing settlement and cash services of settlement and current accounts of organizations, collection services, attraction of deposits of legal entities, issue of bills and deposit certificates, carrying out of factoring operations, lending, guarantees, overdrafts, credit lines and other types of financing, operation with foreign currency and derivative financial instruments.
- Retail business representing private banking services and bank cards services. Private banking services include: opening and maintaining settlement accounts, settlement and cash services, attraction of deposits and lending to individuals, operations with foreign currency, services in safe custody of values. Bank cards services include: representing remote bank services for bank cards holders, settlement and cash services with the use of bank cards, overdrafts and revolving loans with the use of bank cards, payroll project services, acquiring, self-service operations at ATMs, information service to bank cards holders.
- Financial business representing interbank and financial markets transactions, including securities transactions.
- Liquidity representing reallocation of funds between operating segments.

(b) Factors that management used to identify the reportable segments

The Group's segments are strategic lines of business that focus on different categories of customers. For the purposes of these consolidated financial statements each operating segment of the Bank is presented as a reportable segment. The "other" category includes unallocated items.

(c) Measurement of operating segment profit or loss, assets and liabilities

Transactions between the operating segments are on normal commercial terms and conditions. Funds are ordinarily reallocated between operating segments, resulting in funding cost transfers disclosed in interest income and expense. Interest rates for these funds are differentiated depending on the attraction terms and are based on market indicators.

Segment assets and liabilities include operating assets and liabilities representing a major part of the Bank's assets and liabilities, as well as funds reallocated between operating segments, but excluding taxation. Internal charges and transfer pricing adjustments have been reflected in the performance of each operating segment. Segment performance is based on profitability and cost-effectiveness of operating assets.

The CODM reviews financial information prepared based on Russian accounting standards adjusted to meet the requirements of internal reporting. Such financial information differs in certain aspects from International Financial Reporting Standards:

- (i) the fair value changes in available for sale securities are reported within the segments' profits or losses rather than in other comprehensive income;
- (ii) funds are generally reallocated between segments at internal interest rates set by the treasury department, which are determined by reference to market interest rate benchmarks, contractual maturities for loans and observed actual maturities of customer accounts balances;
- (iii) income taxes are not allocated to segments;
- (iv) loan provisions are recognised based on the regulations of the Bank of Russia, rather than based on the incurred loss model prescribed in IAS 39;
- (v) commission income relating to lending is recognised immediately rather than deferred using the effective interest method.

The CODM evaluates performance of each segment based on profit before income tax.

(d) Information about reportable segment profit or loss, assets and liabilities

20 Financial Risk Management

The operations of the Group's members are affected by a wide range of risks, among which, due to the nature of the Group's business, the most significant are: credit risk, market risk (including currency, interest rate and other price risk), liquidity risk, operational risk.

Key planned measures of risk mitigation policy are established within the scope of the Group's strategy, which complies with the Group members' strategic goals and is aimed at further improvement of risk management system in accordance with the business objectives, the number and the size of accepted risks and the optimal balance between profitability and risk level.

The Group's risk management system ensures timely risk identification, analysis, measurement and assessment of risk positions and also application of risk management methods (prevention, mitigation, distribution and absorption). Risk assessment and management procedures are integrated into current operations.

The decisions on the development of new lines of business (new products) are taken with account for preliminary analysis of potential risks, to which particular line of business (product) can be exposed.

Risk management is performed by allocating authority and responsibility, through the system of management reports on the results of control over significant risks and procedures for their management, as well as feedback (corrective actions) based upon the results of control.

Policy and methods of financial risk management corresponds to the policy and the methods applied to and described in the Group's Annual Consolidated Financial Statements for the year ended on December 31, 2015.

Credit risk. The Group takes exposure to credit risk, which is defined by the Group as the risk of losses as a result of the default, untimely or partial discharge of obligations by borrower under the contract terms.

The Group's maximum exposure to credit risk is reflected in the carrying amounts of financial assets in the consolidated statement of financial position. The impact of possible netting of assets and liabilities to reduce potential credit exposure is not significant. For guarantees and commitments to provide loans, the maximum exposure to credit risk is the amount of the commitment. The credit risk is mitigated by collateral and other credit enhancements as disclosed in Note 6.

The credit policy which is annually designed in view of the overall development strategy constitutes a basis of the credit risk management system of the Group.

The key elements of the credit risk management system include review of borrower creditworthiness, multileveled system of lending transaction authorisation, system of limits, regular credit risk monitoring and non-performing loans management.

Market risk. Market risk is defined by the Group as the risk of losses resulting from unfavourable movements in the market value of financial instruments of trade portfolio and derivative financial instruments of the credit organisation and also of foreign currency exchange rates and (or) precious metals. Market risk includes equity, currency and interest rate risks.

The Group takes on exposure to market risks. Market risks arise from open positions in (a) currency, (b) interest rates and (c) equity products, all of which are exposed to general and specific market movements.

Currency risk. The Group is exposed to currency risk due to the fact that its assets and liabilities are denominated in different currencies as well as due to existence of open currency positions resulting from foreign currency transactions. The Group manages currency risk by ensuring maximum possible consistency between the currency of its assets and the currency of its liabilities by currency within established limits. The Assets and Liabilities Management Committee sets limits on the level of exposure by currency and in total for both overnight and intra-day positions, which are monitored daily.

The table below summarises the Group's exposure to foreign currency exchange rate risk at June 30, 2016:

The above analysis includes only monetary assets and liabilities. Investments in equities and nonmonetary assets are not considered to give rise to any material currency risk.

If as of June 30, 2016, the US Dollar exchange rate were 20.0% higher (or 20.0% lower) while all other variables would remain unchanged, the pre-tax profit for the 6 months ended on June 30, 2016 would be RR 20 million higher (RR 20 million lower).

At 31 December 2015, if the US Dollar exchange rate had been 20.0% higher (or 20.0% lower) with all other variables held constant, loss before tax for the year would have been RR 31 million higher (RR 31 million lower).

If as of June 30, 2016, the Euro exchange rate were 20.0% higher (or 20.0% lower) while all other variables would remain unchanged, the pre-tax profit for the 6 months ended on June 30, 2016 would be RR 50 million lower (RR 50 million higher).

At 31 December 2015, if the Euro exchange rate had been 20.0% higher (or 20.0% lower) with all other variables held constant, loss before tax for the year would have been RR 25 million higher (RR 25 million lower).

Interest rate risk. The Group undertakes risk related to the effect of market fluctuations in interest rates on its financial condition and cash flows. These fluctuations may increase the level of interest margin, however, in the event of an unexpected change in interest rates, the interest margin may be reduced or lead to losses.

Interest risk at the Group is assessed using gap analysis by financial instruments that are sensitive to interest rate change (SFI). The main systemic approach of gap analysis as part of interest risk assessment is representing future cash flows in SFI at their carrying amount. This carrying amount is divided by interest rate review dates according to the contractual maturity dates, whichever (the interest rate review date or the maturity date) is the earliest.

Change of the net interest income due to a change in the SFI value at the time of their maturity or interest rate review determines the interest risk value. A change in the net interest income depends on the value of the net cumulative gap in SFI and possible interest rate change at the end of the six-month reporting period. For the analysis of financial instruments that are sensitive to interest rate change, a yearly period is selected as the maximum analyzed interval.

The main methods used by the Group to mitigate its interest rate risk is balancing the assets and liabilities in terms of repricing/rescheduling as well as regular (at least quarterly) revision of current interest rates. The table below summarises the Group's exposure to interest rate risks at the annual reporting dates.

A general analysis of the Group's interest risk as of June, 30, 2016 is presented in the table below.

If as of June 30, 2016, the interest rates were 200 base points higher (2015: 200 base points higher) while the other variables would remain unchanged, the pre-tax profit for the 6 months ended on June 30, 2016 would be RR 631 million lower (2015: the pre-tax loss would be RR 1 035 million higher) due to higher interest costs under the term deposits of individuals and legal entities and funds of other banks. The other equity components as of June 30, 2016, would be RR 75 million (2015: RR 43 million) more mainly due to an increase of the fair value of fixed-rate financial instruments classified as available for sale.

The principle of interest risk management is the minimization of the net gap obtained as a result of the analysis of assets and liabilities that are sensitive to interest rate change. Depending on the net gap, the Group makes decisions on granting or raising resources at certain rates for certain terms for the purpose of minimising possible losses due to a change of interest rates on the market.

The Group monitors interest rates for its financial instruments. The table below summarises interest rates based on effective interest rates at the end of the reporting period used for amortisation of the respective assets/liabilities. For securities, the interest rates represent yields to maturity based on market quotations at the reporting date:

The sign "-" in the table above means that the Group does not have the respective assets or liabilities in the corresponding currency.

Other price risk. This risk is not material for the Group, as the scope of transactions with equity financial instruments is not significant.

The Group is exposed to the risk of premature repayment because it grants loans at a fixed interest rate including mortgage loans, which entitle borrowers to repay them prematurely. The financial result and capital of the Group in the current year and at the current reporting date would not depend significantly on the change of rates in case of premature repayment, as such loans are accounted at an amortized cost, and the amount of premature repayment is fully or almost equivalent to the amortized cost of loans and advances to customers.

Liquidity risk. Liquidity risk is defined as the risk that the Group will encounter difficulty in meeting obligations associated with financial liabilities. The Group is exposed to daily calls on its available cash resources from overnight deposits, current accounts, maturing deposits, loan draw-downs, guarantees and from margin and other calls on cash-settled derivative instruments. The Group does not maintain cash resources to meet all of these needs as experience shows that a minimum level of reinvestment of maturing funds can be predicted with a high level of certainty.

The process of control over liquidity risk is regulated by the Bank of Russia instructions and internal regulations of the Group.

For the purpose of liquidity loss risk assessment and analysis, the Bank applies various methods, including the method of liquidity analysis based on cash flows.

Liquidity risk management is exercised through agreeing repayment dates for assets placed and liabilities attracted by the Bank and through maintaining a required volume of highly liquid funds. The Bank calculates liquidity ratios on a daily basis in accordance with the requirements of the Bank of Russia. These ratios are:

- Instant liquidity ratio (N2), which is calculated as the ratio of highly-liquid assets to liabilities payable on demand. The ratio was 69.8% at 30 June 2016 (2015: 72.4%). At 30 June 2016 and 31 December 2015 the minimum required level for N2 ratio was 15%.
- Current liquidity ratio (N3), which is calculated as the ratio of liquid assets to liabilities maturing within 30 calendar days. The ratio was 85.2% at 30 June 2016 (2015: 80.9%). At 30 June 2016 and 31 December 2015 the minimum required level for N3 ratio was 50%.
- Long-term liquidity ratio (N4), which is calculated as the ratio of assets maturing after one year to Bank's regulatory capital and liabilities maturing after one year. The ratio was 85.5% at 30 June 2016 (2015: 95.8%). At 30 June 2016 and 31 December 2015 the maximum required level for N4 ratio was 120%.

The Group monitors compliance with the liquidity ratios set by the Bank of Russia on a daily basis.

To analyse the liquidity risk the Group analyses its dependence on interbank market transactions, transactions of large customers and credit risk concentration. The Group seeks to maintain a stable resource base which primarily comprises deposits of legal entities, individual deposits and due to other banks. Special attention is given to quality and diversity of assets.

When forming its securities portfolio the Group focuses on the Bank of Russia's Lombard List to get access to refinancing instruments.

For managing liquidity risk the Group monitors expected maturities, which may be summarised as follows at June 30, 2016:

The above analysis is based on expected maturities. The entire portfolio of trading securities is therefore classified within demand and less than one month based on management's assessment of the portfolio's liquidity.

The expected maturity of investment securities available for sale is based on offer agreement date.

In the opinion of the Group's management, coincidence or/and controlled non-coincidence of the terms of placement and maturity and interest rates by assets and liabilities is a basic factor for the Group's successful management. Full coincidence of such positions is usually not the case at banks, as operations often have uncertain maturities and a different nature. The non-coincidence of such positions potentially raises the business profitability, but the risk of losses is raised at the same time. The repayment terms for assets and liabilities and the possibility of the replacement of interest liabilities at an acceptable cost as their maturities come close are important factors for assessing the Bank's liquidity and risks, should there be a change in interest rates and foreign exchange rates.

The Group's management believes that despite a material share of customers' funds with 'on demand' status, the diversification of such funds by amounts and types of depositors, and experience gained by the Group in previous periods indicate that such funds establish a long-term and stable source of funding for the Group's operations.

Operational risk. Operational risk is defined by the Group as the risk of losses arising from insufficient organisation of the Group's processes, deliberate or non-deliberate actions of employees or third parties, failure of information, technology or other systems and as a result of external events.

The organisational process of operational risk management, the structure, roles and functions of the process participants are set out in internal documents of the Group's head credit unit in accordance with the recommendations of the Bank of Russia and the Basel Committee for Bank Supervision (Basel II).

21 Contingencies and Commitments

Legal proceedings. From time to time and in the normal course of business, claims against the Group may be received. The Group's management believes that the allowance of RR 45 million recognised at June 30, 2016 (December 31, 2015: RR 43 million) is sufficient for possible payments under legal proceedings.

Tax legislation. Russian tax legislation, which was enacted or substantively enacted at the end of the reporting period, is subject to varying interpretations when being applied to the transactions and activities of the Group. Consequently, tax positions taken by management and the formal documentation supporting the tax positions may be challenged tax authorities. Russian tax administration is gradually strengthening, including the fact that there is a higher risk of review of tax transactions without a clear business purpose or with tax incompliant counterparties. Fiscal periods remain open to review by the authorities in respect of taxes for three calendar years preceding the year when decision about review was made. Under certain circumstances reviews may cover longer periods.

As Russian tax legislation does not provide definitive guidance in certain areas, the Group adopts, from time to time, interpretations of such uncertain areas that reduce the overall tax rate of the Group. While management currently estimates that the tax positions and interpretations that it has taken can probably be sustained, there is a possible risk that outflow of resources will be required should such tax positions and interpretations be challenged by the tax authorities. The impact of any such challenge cannot be reliably estimated; however, it may be significant to the financial position and/or the overall operations of the Group.

At June 30, 2016, the management has not made any provision for potential tax liabilities (December 31, 2015: nil), as the management of the Group believes that its interpretation of the relevant legislation is appropriate and the Group's tax, currency and customs positions will be sustained.

Credit related commitments. The primary purpose of these instruments is to ensure that funds are available to a customer as required. Guarantees and standby letters of credit, which represent irrevocable assurances that the Group will make payments in the event that a customer cannot meet its obligations to third parties, carry the same credit risk as loans. Documentary and commercial letters of credit, which are written undertakings by the Group on behalf of a customer authorising a third party to draw drafts on the Group up to a stipulated amount under specific terms and conditions, are collateralised by the underlying shipments of goods to which they relate or cash deposits and, therefore, carry less risk than a direct borrowing.

Commitments to extend credit represent unused portions of authorisations by the Group's management to extend credit in the form of loans, guarantees or letters of credit. With respect to credit risk on commitments to extend credit, the Group is potentially exposed to loss in an amount equal to the total unused commitments. However, the likely amount of loss is less than the total unused commitments since most commitments to extend credit are contingent upon customers maintaining specific credit standards. The Group monitors the term to maturity of credit related commitments, because longer-term commitments generally have a greater degree of credit risk than shorter-term commitments.

Performance guarantees. Performance guarantees are contracts that provide compensation if another party fails to perform a contractual obligation. The risk under performance guarantee contracts is the possibility that the insured event (i.e. the failure to perform the contractual obligation by another party) occurs.

22 Fair Value Disclosures

Fair value measurements are analysed by level in the fair value hierarchy as follows: (i) level one are measurements at quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities, (ii) level two measurements are valuations techniques with all material inputs observable for the asset or liability, either directly (that is, as prices) or indirectly (that is, derived from prices), and (iii) level three measurements are valuations not based on observable market data (that is, unobservable inputs). Management applies judgement in categorising financial instruments using the fair value hierarchy. If a fair value measurement uses observable inputs that require significant adjustment, that measurement is a Level 3 measurement. The significance of a valuation input is assessed against the fair value measurement in its entirety.

The fair value of unquoted fixed interest rate instruments was estimated based on estimated future cash flows expected to be received discounted at current interest rates for new instruments with similar credit risk and remaining maturity.

For assets, the Group used assumptions about counterparty's incremental borrowing rate and prepayment rates. Liabilities were discounted at the Group's own incremental borrowing rate. Liabilities due on demand were discounted from the first date that the amount could be required to be paid by the Group.

The Group's liabilities to its customers are subject to state deposit insurance scheme as described in Note 1. The fair value of these liabilities reflects this factor.

23 Related Party Transactions

Parties are generally considered to be related if the parties are under common control, or one party has the ability to control the other party or can exercise significant influence over the other party in making financial or operational decisions. In considering each possible related party relationship, attention is directed to the substance of the relationship, not merely the legal form.

The Group does not classify non-controlling members as related parties due to their insignificant influence on financial and operating decisions of the Group.
